

THE TENNESSEE COOPERATIVE CONSULTING FORESTER PROGRAM

The Tennessee Department of Agriculture, Forestry Division, sponsors a Cooperative Consulting Forester Program in cooperation with the Tennessee Chapter of the Association of Consulting Foresters (ACF) . The purpose of the Program is to promote adoption of sound forest management practices on private forest lands in Tennessee and to encourage landowners to utilize private consultants in the ongoing management of their woodland acres.

The Forestry Division is responsible for promoting sound forest management on private lands for the production of wood products and wood-related benefits for the public good. Division personnel are available to furnish information, advice, and limited assistance about forest protection, management, and reforestation. However, as a public agency, the Division's role is not one of managing private lands or providing comprehensive forest land management services.

Management of private forest lands is the logical role of the private sector. Consulting foresters are private businessmen who are educated and experienced in the forestry profession. They offer a wide variety of forest management services to landowners on a fee or contract basis. As such, consulting foresters function as both technical advisors and legal agents in representing landowners.

Since the results of forest management decisions can be both long-lasting and difficult to reverse, it is important that such decisions be made carefully and with an awareness of all options. Few forestland owners feel confident in making unaided, long-range management decisions since they lack the knowledge, experience, and time to adequately handle their own forestry affairs. Others hesitate to engage a private consultant due to the cost. In many cases, however, the individual assistance a private consultant can provide will more than pay for itself by increasing productivity and financial returns from the property and relieving the owner from having to manage his own forest management affairs. The advice and assistance available from private forest consultants can be as valuable as that from well qualified professionals in other professions.

SELECTING A CONSULTING FORESTER

A consultant livelihood is based on satisfied clients. The consulting forester you hire should serve you and represent your best interests in all matters concerning your woodlands.

Consultants' fees may be based on the amount of time required to perform the job, the acreage of woodland involved, or a contract price based on a proportion of the revenues obtained from the sale of timber. Cost should be one consideration in choosing a consultant, but his experience, performance, record, and understanding of your objectives is equally important. There is no single best way to manage forestland; so, choose a consultant who understands your personal needs and with whom you feel comfortable. Time spent reviewing consultants' qualifications and references can be a wise investment.

The knowledge and experience of consulting foresters vary widely. Determine a consultant's qualifications from personal interviews, and obtain references from several clients. Obtain this and other information, including cost estimates, from several consulting foresters before choosing one to handle your forestry affairs.

There are no legal standards governing consultants' work in Tennessee; however, the Society of American Foresters (SAF) and the Association of Consulting Foresters (ACF) each has membership criteria, including the prerequisite of a professional forestry education. Membership in one or more of these organizations is an indication of a consultant's professional commitment.

Both organizations have adopted formal codes of ethics, standards of conduct, which guide the professional performance of SAF and ACF members. Copies of the SAF and ACF codes of ethics are found on the following pages.

Once you have selected a consultant, you should sign a contract or written agreement. It should specify a list of services to be performed, how they will be performed, and who will perform them. For example, if property boundaries are to be marked, specify who will search the records for property descriptions. If timber is to be sold, determine whether it will be by competitive bid, negotiated bid, or contract logging. Include how often the consultant will check during harvesting to assure that the job is done correctly and how the volume of timber sold will be determined and by whom. If post-harvest cleanup is part of the job, specify who may receive proceeds from possible cordwood sales from the tops of the trees after logging.

CODE OF ETHICS
OF THE
SOCIETY OF AMERICAN FORESTERS

PREAMBLE

The purpose of these canons is to govern the professional conduct of members of the Society of American Foresters in their relations with the public, their employers, including clients, and each other as provided in Article VII of the Society's Constitution. Compliance with these canons helps to assure just and honorable professional and human relationships, mutual confidence and respect, and competent service to society.

These canons have been adopted by the membership of the Society and can only be amended by the membership. Procedures for processing charges of violation of these canons are contained in Bylaws established by the Council. The canons and procedures apply to all membership categories in all forestry-related disciplines, except Honorary Members.

All members upon joining the Society agree to abide by this Code as a condition of membership.

CANONS

1. A member's knowledge and skills will be utilized for the benefit of society. A member will strive for accurate, current and increasing knowledge of forestry, will communicate such knowledge when not confidential, and will challenge and correct untrue statements about forestry.
2. A member will advertise only in a dignified and truthful manner, stating the services the member is qualified and prepared to perform. Such advertisements may include references to fees charged.
3. A member will base public comment on forestry matters on accurate knowledge and will not distort or withhold pertinent information to substantiate a point of view. Prior to making public statements on forest policies and practices, a member will indicate on whose behalf the statements are made.
4. A member will perform services consistent with the highest standards of quality and with unqualified loyalty to the employer.
5. A member will perform only those services for which the member is qualified by education or experience.
6. A member who is asked to participate in forestry operations which deviate from accepted professional standards must advise the employer in advance of the consequences of such deviation.
7. A member will not voluntarily disclose information concerning the affairs of the member's employer without the employer's express permission.

8. A member must avoid conflicts of interest or even the appearance of such conflicts. If, despite such precaution, a conflict of interest is discovered, it must be promptly and fully disclosed to the member's employer and the member must be prepared to act immediately to resolve the matter.
9. A member will not accept compensation or expenses from more than one employer for the same service, unless the parties involved are informed and consent.
10. A member will engage, or advise the member's employer to engage, other experts and specialists in forestry or related fields whenever the employer's interest would be best served by such action, and members will work cooperatively with other professionals.
11. A member will not by false statement or dishonest action injure the reputation or professional associations of another member.
12. A member will give credit for the methods, ideas, or assistance obtained from the other.
13. A member in competition for supplying forestry services will encourage the prospective employer to base selection on comparison of qualifications and negotiation of fee or salary.
14. Information submitted by a member about a candidate for a prospective position, award, or elected office will be accurate, factual, and objective.
15. A member having evidence of violation of these canons by another member will present the information and charges to the Council in accordance with the Bylaws.

CODE OF ETHICS
OF THE
ASSOCIATION OF CONSULTING FORESTERS

These canons formulate the guiding principles of professional conduct for consulting foresters in their relations with each other, their employers, the public and with other foresters. Observance of these canons secures decent and honorable professional and human relationships, establishes enduring mutual confidence and respect, and enables the profession to give to its maximum service.

In order to apply these canons to the diverse circumstances arising in practice, guidelines are issued from time to time by the Executive Board. They are incorporated by reference and made a part thereof.

PROFESSIONAL LIFE

1. A.C.F. Consulting Foresters will utilize their knowledge and skill for the benefit of society.
2. An A.C.F. Consulting Forester will cooperate in extending the effectiveness of the forestry profession by interchanging information and experience with other foresters and by contributing to the work of forestry societies, associations, schools and publications.
3. An A.C.F. Consulting Forester will advertise only in a dignified manner, setting forth in truthful and factual statements services offered prospective clients and the public.
4. Professional work should come to A.C.F. Consulting Foresters on the basis of their experience, competency and reputation. Solicitation by criticism of competitors, self-laudation or lobbying is degrading to the profession and is unethical.
5. An A.C.F. Consulting Forester will strive for correct and increasing knowledge of forestry and the dissemination of this knowledge and will discourage and condemn the spreading of untrue, unfair, and exaggerated statement concerning forestry.

DEALING WITH THE PUBLIC

6. A.C.F. Consulting Foresters will not issue statements, criticism, or arguments on matters connected with public
7. When serving as an expert witness on forestry matters in a public or private fact finding proceeding, an A.C.F. Consulting Forester will base testimony on adequate knowledge of subject matter, and render opinions based on honest convictions.
8. A.C.F. Consulting Foresters will refrain from publicly expressing opinions on a technical subject unless they are informed of the facts relating thereto, and will not distort or withhold data for the purpose of substantiating a point of view.

9. Forestry plans and reports should be definite and specific and should have no double meaning.

DEALING WITH CLIENTS, PRINCIPALS, AND EMPLOYERS

10. A.C.F. Consulting Foresters will be loyal to their clients and to the organization in which they are employed, and will faithfully perform their work and assignments.
11. A.C.F. Consulting Foresters will clearly present the consequences expected if their professional forestry judgment is overruled by non-technical authority when they are responsible for the technical adequacy of forestry or related work.
12. A.C.F. Consulting Foresters will not voluntarily disclose information, received in confidence, concerning business affairs of their employers, principals, or clients, unless express permission is first obtained.
13. An A.C.F. Consulting Forester must avoid conflicts of interest or even an appearance of such conflicts.
14. A.C.F. Consulting Foresters will not, for the same service, accept compensation of any kind other than from their clients, principals, or employers, without full disclosure, knowledge, and consent of all parties concerned.
15. A.C.F. Consulting Foresters will engage, or advise their clients or employers to engage, other experts and specialists in forestry and related fields whenever the clients' or employers' interests would be best served by such actions, and will cooperate freely with them in their work.
16. An A.C.F. Consulting Forester should not undertake work at a fee that will not permit a satisfactory professional performance.
17. A.C.F. Consulting Foresters will not use association with a non-forester, a corporation, or partnership as a cloak for unethical acts, but must accept responsibility for their acts.
18. Under no circumstances should A.C.F. Consulting Foresters undertake to make an appraisal when their employment or fee is contingent upon the amount of their estimate of value.
19. It is unethical for an A.C.F. Consulting Forester to pay or claim a fee or commission for the purpose of obtaining or referring employment.

DEALING WITH PROFESSIONAL FORESTERS

20. An A.C.F. Consulting Forester will at all times strive to protect the forestry profession collectively and individually from misrepresentation and misunderstanding.
21. An A.C.F. Consulting Forester will aid in safeguarding the profession against the admission to its ranks of persons lacking good moral character or adequate training.

22. In writing, or in speech, A.C.F. Consulting Foresters will be scrupulous in giving full credit to others, in-so-far as their knowledge goes, for procedures, and methods devised or discovered, ideas advanced, or aid given.
23. An A.C.F. Consulting Forester will not intentionally and without just cause, directly or indirectly injure the reputation or business of another forester.
24. If A.C.F. Consulting Foresters have substantial and convincing evidence of unprofessional conduct of another forester, they will present the information to the proper authority for action.
25. A.C.F. Consulting Foresters will not use the advantages of a salaried position to compete unfairly with another forester.
26. An A.C.F. Consulting Forester will not attempt to supplant another forester in a particular employment after becoming aware that the latter has been definitely engaged.
27. An A.C.F. Consulting Forester will not review the work of another forester, for the latter's employer, without the other's knowledge, unless the latter's connection with the work has been terminated.
28. An A.C.F. Consulting Forester will not review or supplement the work of another consulting forester unless he has determined that the latter employment has been terminated.
29. An A.C.F. Consulting Forester will base all letters of reference, or oral recommendation, on a fair and unbiased evaluation of the party concerned.
30. To the best of their ability, A.C.F. Consulting Foresters will support, work for, and adhere to, the principles of the merit system of employment.
31. An A.C.F. Consulting Forester will not solicit or collect financial contributions from subordinates or employees for political purposes.
32. An A.C.F. Consulting Forester will uphold the principle of appropriate and adequate compensation for those engaged in forestry work, including those in subordinate positions, as being in the public interest and maintaining the standards of the profession.
